

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

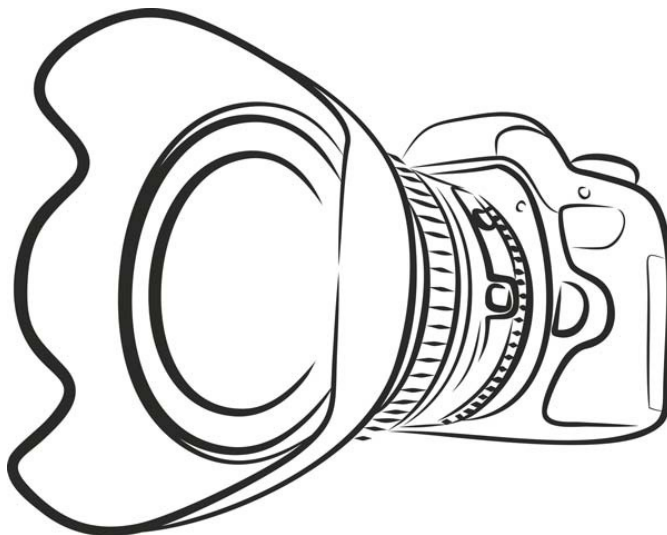

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

The paparazzi were all at the opening of the film!

Learning Outcome

Describe situations in spoken interactions according to work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- What do you know about the paparazzi?
- What types of magazines and newspapers publish unauthorized photos of celebrities?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about TV shows, films, and being famous.
- I can talk about habits in the past.
- I can talk about what is being done or what has been done.

Let's Explore!

The paparazzi publish photos celebrities would rather not share.

* When celebrities "would rather not share" pictures, they are usually personal or unflattering.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Famous people are being followed. Celebrities are being hounded. This has been happening since the studios stopped protecting them. Royals are being chased for photos they would rather not share.

Director Federico Fellini has been credited with coining the word paparazzi. Paparazzo (which is Italian for little buzzing insect) was a photographer in La Dolce Vita.

He would take non-posed shots of celebrities for a frustrated gossip reporter. Paparazzo would speed around the streets of Rome on a noisy motor scooter snapping away. He used to be part of the local scenery.

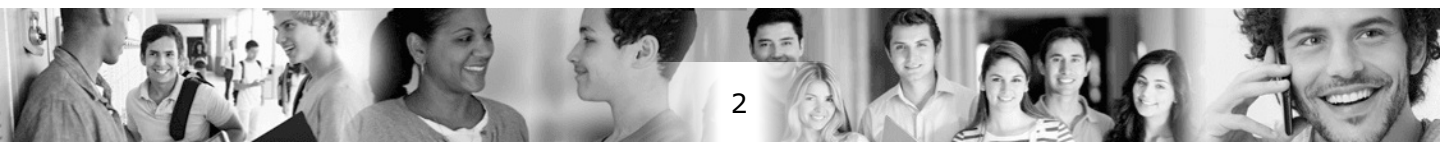

This movie character has been based on a real photographer, Tazio Secchiaroli. Secchiaroli discovered that editors who used to want glossy eight by tens, now preferred pictures that took celebrities by surprise.

Photographers like Secchiaroli have been spying on celebrities, secretly clicking the camera, and then running for their lives ever since.

Secchiaroli would later regret the drastic change in the reputation of the paparazzi. He admitted that his attempts to get a "juicy" shot used to lead to fistfights and arrests. However he has blamed the paparazzi of today for not setting limits. They needed, he felt, to do that.

Have famous people been free from blame? No, according to Secchiaroli. He felt that celebrities should face the consequences of their fame. Because there has been massive public interest in their personal lives, they should face the camera.

He said that generally, whenever the famous allowed themselves to be photographed, they weren't followed.

Let's Practice!

Let's talk about a masterpiece of world cinema.

Instructions: Draw a line to match the sentences in Column A and Column B. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

COLUMN A

1. What is a paparazzi?
2. Who has been credited with coining the word paparazzi?
3. Which one of Fellini's movies featured the character Paparazzo?
4. What did Secchiaroli think about celebrities?
5. What has Secchiaroli blamed modern paparazzi for?

COLUMN B

- a. a photographer who takes candid pictures of celebrities for publication.
- b. He has blamed them for not setting limits.
- c. La Dolce Vita
- d. Director Federico Fellini
- e. He felt that they should face the consequences of their fame.

Let's Practice!

Rome in the 1960s used to be the best place to spot* celebrities.

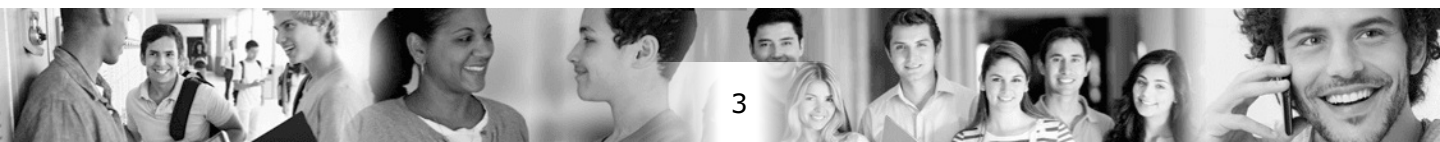

*When you "spot" something or someone, you normally have been spending a long time looking for them.

Instructions: Choose the words from the Word Bank to correctly complete the sentences. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

Word Bank

admitted that / would take / paparazzi / used to lead / would speed / celebrities / snapping away / regret

1. He _____ non-posed shots of _____ for a frustrated gossip reporter.
2. Paparazzo _____ around the streets of Rome on a noisy motor scooter _____.
3. He _____ part of the local scenery.
4. Secchiaroli _____ the drastic change in the reputation of the _____ would later.
5. He _____ his attempts to get a "juicy" shot _____ to fistfights and arrests.

Extension Activity

Look at online sites, magazines and newspapers that are fueled by paparazzi photos.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Go to the library OR online to look for magazines, websites and newspapers that use paparazzi photos.
- Find out who the current people being photographed are, and note why they are being targeted.
- Think of 3 celebrities who used to be photographed but no longer are.
- Write up a paragraph about three celebrities being photographed by the paparazzi today and explain why you think this is being done.
- Read your ideas to a partner.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I find magazines, sites and newspapers that use paparazzi photos.

☐ ☐

I write about 3 celebrities who are currently being photographed and why using the Present Continuous Passive.

☐ ☐

I say what has changed using the Present Perfect tense.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- celebrity (noun): a famous or well-known person
e.g. Mariah Carey is a celebrity.
- to hound (verb): to pursue or harass without respite
e.g. Celebrities are being hounded.
- Royals (noun): connected with or belonging to the king or queen of a country
e.g. Royals, are being chased for photos they would rather not share.
- to credit (verb): to acknowledge that someone has done something e.g. Director Federico Fellini has been credited with coining the word paparazzi.
- to spy (verb): to collect secret information about another country, organization or person e.g. Photographers like Secchiaroli have been spying on celebrities, secretly clicking the camera, and then running for their lives ever since.
- paparazzi (noun): a photographer or group of photographers who take pictures of famous people for money e.g. He has blamed the paparazzi of today for not setting limits.
- frustrated (adjective): dissatisfied
e.g. He would take non-posed shots of celebrities for a frustrated gossip reporter.
- eight by ten (noun): a size meaning eight inches by ten inches e.g. Secchiaroli discovered that editors who used to want glossy eight by tens, now preferred pictures that took celebrities by surprise.
- to coin (verb): to invent a new word or phrase that other people then begin to use e.g. Fellini coined the term paparazzi.
- drastic (adjective): extremely severe or extensive e.g. Secchiaroli would later regret the drastic change in the reputation of the paparazzi.

Learning Points

Talking About Habits in the Past: Used to and Would

You use used to and would to talk about habits from the past which are now finished. The idea is that in the present time the habits have stopped.

Both used to and would talk about past habits which no longer exist, but there are a couple of things to note about the usage of these expressions.

1. Would cannot be used to talk about past states. You must use used to.

For example:

I used to have a cat.

~~I would have a cat.~~

2. You use used to to talk about regular, important habitual behavior.

For example:

I used to jog.

~~I would jog.~~

Look at the chart for the rules about structuring sentences with used to. Notice there is a change in the spelling of used to.

Positive Statement	He used to be part of the local scenery.
Negative Statement	He didn't use to be part of the local scenery.
Question	Did he use to be part of the local scenery?

Examples:

- He would take non-posed shots of celebrities for a frustrated gossip reporter.
- Paparazzo would speed around the streets of Rome on a noisy motor scooter snapping away.
- Secchiaroli discovered that editors who used to want glossy eight by tens, now preferred pictures that took celebrities by surprise.
- Secchiaroli would later regret the drastic change in the reputation of the paparazzi.
- He admitted that his attempts to get a "juicy" shot used to lead to fistfights and arrests.

Learning Points

The Passive: The Present Continuous and Present Perfect Tenses

You use the Present Continuous to talk about an action that is happening at the time of speaking. The action or event is in progress.

Photographers are hounding celebrities.

You use the Present Perfect to talk about a finished action or event with present consequences. There is a connection between what happened in the past and the present.

People have credited Director Federico Fellini with coining the word paparazzi.

You often choose the passive form when you want to talk about an action but are not so interested in saying who or what does/did it. Passives without agents (the doers) are common in writing.

Look at the chart below for the structure of the passive voice.

Name	Structure	Example
Present Continuous	am/are/is + being + past participle	Celebrities are being hounded.
Present Perfect	have/has + been + past participle	Director Federico Fellini has been credited with coining the word paparazzi.

Examples:

- Famous people are being followed.
- Celebrities are being hounded.
- This has been happening since the studios stopped protecting them.
- Royals are being chased for photos they would rather not share.
- Director Federico Fellini has been credited with coining the word paparazzi.
- This movie character has been based on a real photographer, Tazio Secchiaroli.
- Photographers like Secchiaroli have been spying on celebrities, secretly clicking the camera, and then running for their lives ever since.

