

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

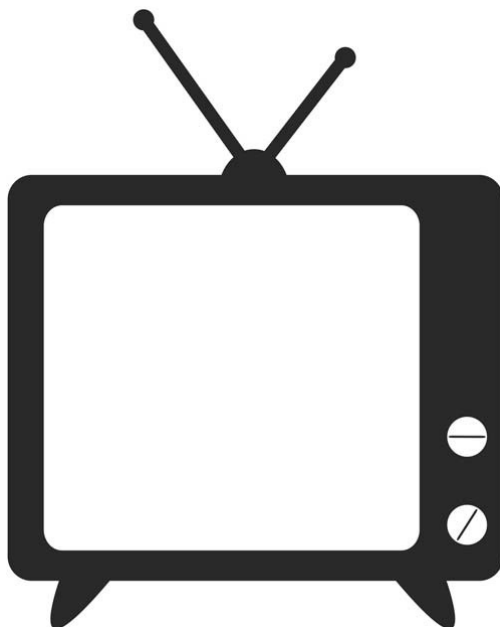

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Old TV shows were the best!

Learning Outcome

Describe situations in spoken interactions according to work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- What is your favorite 'old' TV show?
- Why do you enjoy it so much?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about TV shows, films, and being famous.
- I can talk about what has been happening or what has been done.
- I can talk about what has happened and what happened.

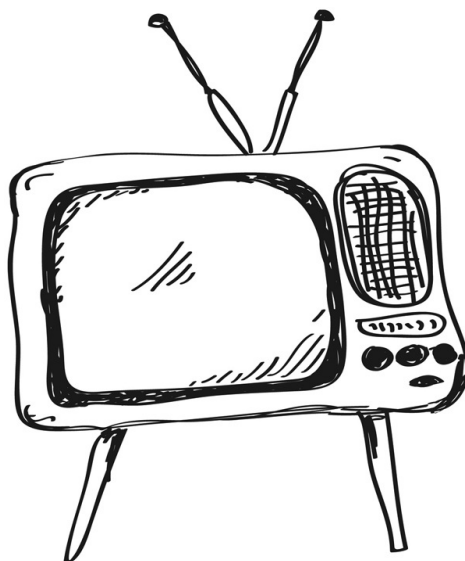

Let's Explore!

You probably don't remember "The Golden Age of Television"!

* "The Golden Age of Television" in the US began in 1948 and extended to 1960.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Of all 20th century inventions, the one that perhaps people have been influenced by the most is the television. Living rooms are being taken over by 72-inch screens for better viewing even before they are furnished. Newer, better models to enhance our viewing pleasure are being advertised every day. We have been turned into voyeurs. Many of us watch life happen rather than participating in it.

Since the first 5-inch black and white television sets arrived in the early 1940s, people have been fascinated by what's on it. In the early 50s, TV experienced an explosive growth - from 6,000 to 12 million sets! Today more sets are being bought and installed than ever. North Americans have bought an average of 3 per household. "The Golden Age of Television" drew its headliners from Hollywood movies. Since then it has created its own. The public's appetite for TV has grown over the years. The shows themselves have changed.

The constantly happy household featured in the 50s and 60s has given way to more realistic or quirkier renditions of the same. Reality shows have replaced the game shows of yesteryear. The simple police drama has morphed into ones featuring forensic scientists. The TV set has certainly been updated since the days of the small box with one channel. Whether the programs on it are still worth being watched is another matter altogether. Ultimately, that is a choice each of us has to make for ourselves.

Let's Practice!

Can you find the mistakes?

Instructions: Circle the mistakes in the sentence. Rewrite the sentences correctly below. Use the sentences to model a conversation with your partner. Switch roles.

1. Of all the 20th century inventions, television is the most influential.

2. Living rooms are been taken over by 72-inch screens for better viewing even before they are furnished.

3. Newer, better models to enhance our viewing pleasure are being advertise every day.

4. We has been turned into voyeurs.

5. People has been fascinate by what's on TV.

Let's Practice!

Some facts about TV history.

Instructions: Organize the mystery sentence. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. inventions / . / all / influential / Of / 20th / most / television / is / century / the

2. in / 1940 / Black / sets / arrived / . / white / television / and

3. 6,000/ million / TV / explosive / experienced / sets! / from / growth / an / to / 12

Extension Activity

Talk about old TV shows.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Talk about shows that are no longer on, that you used to watch.
- Explain why you enjoyed them.
- Say what you know about the actors who were in them.
- Talk about what happened on the show and what has happened to the actors since then
- Ask other people about their favorite old shows.
- Find out what shows you have in common and whether they give the same reasons as you do.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I talk about shows that are no longer on using used to and would.

☐ ☐

I explain my reasons for liking the show.

☐ ☐

I use the Present Perfect tense and the Simple Past tense.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to furnish (verb): to put furniture in a house or room
e.g. Living rooms are being taken over by 72-inch screens for better viewing even before they are furnished.
- voyeur (noun): a person who watches other people's private lives
e.g. We have been turned into voyeurs.
- to install (verb): to put furniture, a machine, or a piece of equipment into position and make it ready to use e.g. Today more sets are being bought and installed than ever.
- headliner (noun): the main performer in a show or concert
e.g. "The Golden Age of Television" drew its headliners from Hollywood movies.
- quirky (adjective): unusual in an attractive and interesting way e.g. The 60s household featured on TV has given way to a quirkier rendition of the same.
- rendition (noun): a particular way of performing or displaying something in a similar way to what was done previously e.g. The 50s household featured on TV has given way to a more realistic rendition of the same.

Learning Points

The Passive of Present Continuous and Present Perfect Tenses

You use an active structure when you want the "doer" of the action to be the subject.
You use a passive structure when you want the "receiver" of the action to be the subject.

You use the Present Continuous to talk about an action that is happening at the time of speaking. The action or event is in progress.

Companies are advertising newer, better models to enhance our viewing pleasure every day.

You use the Present Perfect to talk about a finished action or event with present consequences. There is a connection between what happened in the past and the present.

Televisions have turned us into voyeurs.

You often choose the passive form when you want to talk about an action but are not so interested in saying who or what does/did it. Passives without agents (the doers) are common in writing.

Look at the chart below for the structure of the passive voice.

Name	Structure	Example
Present Continuous	am/are/is + being + past participle	Newer, better models to enhance our viewing pleasure are being advertised every day.
Present Perfect	have/has + been + past participle	We have been turned into voyeurs.

Examples:

- Of all 20th century inventions, the one that perhaps people have been influenced by the most is television.
- Living rooms are being taken over by 72-inch screens for better viewing even before they are furnished.
- Newer, better models to enhance our viewing pleasure are being advertised every day.
- We have been turned into voyeurs.
- Since the first 5-inch black and white television sets arrived in the early 1940s, people have been fascinated by what's on it.